Any such Order, when effective, shall have the force and effect of law and may be given retroactive effect to a date not earlier than the effective date of the corresponding provision of law relating to Foreign Service personnel.

(2) Any provisions of an Executive Order issued pursuant to this subsection shall modify, supersede or render inapplicable, as the case may be, to the extent inconsistent therewith--

(A) all provisions of law enacted prior to the effective date of the provisions of such Executive Order, and

(B) any prior provision of any Executive Order issued under authority of this section.

(k) Failure to address or provide for in this section any allowance, expense, service or other benefit which may be so addressed or provided for in other law shall not, in any manner or respect, affect any such allowance, expense, service or other benefit which may be available or applicable to Agency employees or other persons under contract to the Agency.

You asked me to compare Section 418 with the language of the CIA Retirement Act. I attach a copy of page 102 on which I have underscored the lines which refer to designation of participants in CIARDS. In order to bring Section 418 into step, I suggest the following phrasing:

"The Director may, however, continue to designate for participation...certain employees of the Agency whose duties are determined to be (i) in support of Agency activities abroad hazardous to life or health or (ii) so specialized because of security requirements as to be clearly distinguishable from normal government employment...."
